Fowlerville First United Methodist Church to serve turkey supper Oct. 24th

The ladies of the Fowlerville First United Methodist Church will be putting on the 83rd Annual Turkey Supper 'Drive Thru' on Saturday, Oct. 24th. The supper will be served from 5-7 p.m. (or until the food is gone) and is available by Curbside Pickup Only. A free will offering will be accepted.

Those wishing to obtain a meal are asked to place orders at the south side of the Main Entrance Parking Lot on South Second Street. The supper includes turkey, mashed potatoes & gravy, stuffing, green beans, squash, cranberry relish, coleslaw, and a slice of homemade pie.

The church is located at 201 S. Second Street at the corner of Church Street.

Senior Center donates totem pole to Fowlerville Family Fair

By Mark Thompson

The Fowlerville Senior Center is happy to announce the Fowlerville Fair Board of Directors accepted their gift of the totem pole created at the 2026 Fowlerville Family Fair. The totem pole features hand carved art representing various aspects of the Fowlerville area. This week Senior Center members completed installation of the totem pole, which was placed near the fair office.

When the Senior Center proposed creating the totem pole it became a community project and a collaboration of many people. Our members envisioned this as a participatory woodcarving demonstration for fair attendees at the 2026 fair. The Senior Center sought advice about what type of woodcarvings would best represent the Fowlerville area and decided on fourteen different woodcarvings.

An eleven-foot cedar log was donated by Gudwer Forest Products, a certified Master Logging Company located in Michigan's Upper Peninsula. Senior Center members then prepared the log for carving, planning to offer fair attendees opportunities to help carve the fourteen different wood sculptures on the totem pole.

The totem pole carving project took place in a booth, under the fairgrounds Grandstand and the participation from fair-goers was beyond expectations. A total of ninety-four participants assisted with the creation of the totem pole and ranged in age from thirteen months to eighty-five years old. And everyone who assisted with the totem pole has their name printed on the back side of the totem pole.

The Fair Board of Directors has invited the Senior Center to return to the 2027 Fowlerville Family Fair. The Center has accepted, and plans are already being discussed for a new hand-carving project.

At next year's fair, the Senior Center invites everyone who helped create this totem pole to meet, on a specific date and time, at the totem pole and have a group photograph taken. We hope to see you there.

Fowlerville High School Offers ASVAB for Students 10-12 Grades:

Fowlerville High School would like to share a valuable opportunity for our students in grades 10-12: the chance to take the ASVAB test free of charge (Armed Services Vocational Aptitude Battery). Today's military offers a wide range of career options (over 250), including paid training and college benefits, making it an excellent pathway for many young adults.

The ASVAB test is designed to help students identify their strengths and potential career paths, both in the military and in civilian life. This is an OPTIONAL opportunity; scores WILL NOT be reported to the military unless the student chooses to share their score reports with a recruiter personally. There is no charge to take the test. Please note that space is limited (30 students). Register by having your student use the link found in their graduating year Google Classroom (deadline: 10/24).

Test Date: Tuesday, November 3rd 8:30-10:30

Score Interpretation: Thursday, December 10th 8:30-9:30

Registration can be found in the students Graduating Year Google Classroom (students must register themselves).

Fowlerville Varsity Football Team falls to St. Johns, 43-0, on Oct. 9th

By Bill Call

Fowlerville's Varsity Football Team had a couple of close games early in the season against Lansing Waverly and Corunna that could have been wins and they did earn decisive victories over Corunna and Lansing Eastern.

But the past two games—played against league champion Mason and a talented St. Johns team—have been rough.

Against the latter school, the Gladiators experienced troubles on both sides of the ball and fell to the Redwings, 43-0.

That eventual outcome did not seem evident in the first quarter as the game went back and forth, and it looked like this was going to be a defensive battle. The only scoring was when St. Johns managed a field goal for a 3-0 lead.

At the end of the first quarter, the Gladiators started to put a drive together, running five plays before the time ran out. At the start of the second quarter Fowlerville still maintained control of the ball running off another 11 plays, before turning the ball over to St. Johns on downs at their own 17-yard line. After running five plays, the Redwings scored their first touchdown of the night and the point after was good, giving St. Johns a 10–0 lead.

After receiving the kickoff, the Gladiators were unable to move the ball, so it went back to the Redwings where they marched seventeen yards for their second touchdown as the second quarter came to a close. With the point-after kick being good, St. Johns held a 17-0 advantage.

Coming into the second half, Fowlerville received the kickoff, but they were again unable to mount an offensive drive, turning the ball over to the Redwings on downs. At that point, St. Johns started a barrage of touchdowns and put the game out-of-reach. After the going over 35 points, running clock was midway through the fourth quarter.

The two schools have now played 12 varsity football games since 2011. They did not play in the 2014, 2015, 2016, 2017 seasons as they were not in the same division of the CAAC Conference at that time. St. Johns holds the advantage in those meetings with 9 victories and 3 losses. The Gladiators gained their wins in the 2019, 2020, and 2022 seasons.

Fowlerville was scheduled to play at home against the Pinckney Pirates on Friday, Oct. 16th (past the newspaper deadline). The last game of the season will be an away game with the Charlotte Orioles on Friday, Oct. 23rd. Come out and give the boys a big hand, as it has been a hard year for them and their coaching staff.

Game Stats:

Passing: Kellen Douglass – 8 of 17 for 61-yards and 1 interception.

Receiving: Connell Hardenbrook – 5 receptions for twenty-three yards; Ryder Kleinschmidt – 2 receptions for twenty-four yards; Gavin Rager – 1 reception for 9 yards.

Rushing: Kellen Douglass – 13 carries for thirty-nine yards; Ryder Kleinschmidt – 4 carries for six yards.

Defensive: Hunter Pappes – 9 solo tackles, 2 assisted tackles, 2 tackles for losses; Ayden Turchi – 5 solo tackles, 4 assisted tackles, Kellen Douglass – 8 solo tackles, 3 assisted tackles; Gavin Rager – 4 solo tackles, 1 assist; Connell Hardenbrook – 2 solo tackles, 1 assist; Logan Demko – 3 solo tackles.

Letter to the Editor

This election is important. Our decisions this November will make more sense if we understand the past. Today we are reliving the same struggle that our country faced many years ago. The Marines won the first victory after our revolution when our Marines won the battle of Tripoli.

After President Jefferson defeated the (Islamic) Barbary Pirates, he urged Americans to read the Quran so that they could understand the thinking of those who had, at that time, threatened free shipping in the Mediterranean Sea. Americans fought that war on the behalf of all of the established powers. The Europeans were happy to pay the ransoms rather than to face down the Islamic-inspired pirates.

When I and others joined the army, we pledged ourselves to defend the Constitution against all enemies foreign and domestic. The foreign adversaries in history such as Mao, Hitler, Stalin, Islamic terrorists etc. are easier to recognize than those who should be rightfully labeled as domestic enemies.

Our Constitution is based on the accumulated wisdom from Babylon, Persia, Greece, and Rome, Christian Europe, and the Bible. The simple lessons of history teach us that unchallenged power leads to unbearable, unequal justice. This in turn builds support for a violent revolution to overthrow that oppressive government.

The wisdom of the Constitution tells us to build a system that decentralizes power. The Founders gave most of the power to the individual states. The Federal government divided power between three branches preventing all the power being in just a few hands. Further, the Courts were meant not to be political but to even-handedly uphold the law without partisan consideration. This system has delivered the highest level of freedom and prosperity known in all of history.

In this election the question of the Democratic Socialists of America is on all of our minds. Consider the core leadership of the DSA and see their Islamist connection. Consider their support of the 9/11 attack, the October 7th attack on Israel and the genocidal statement "the river to the sea." Every elected official swears allegiance to the Constitution. Those who give their allegiance to a cause that aims to dismantle our system ought never to be allowed to run for office. Listen carefully to see if any of these candidates clearly declare their allegiance to the Constitution. Requirements for age and citizenship and loyalty to the values of the Constitution are the only written qualifications for office.

I hope that you will consider Jefferson's advice to know Islamic thinking, especially their rules of war and their "manifest destiny" to be the single power over the whole world. (global dictatorship).

America is a wonderful place in which to live. Only those who love it and are committed to a "more excellent union" should lead it.

When you vote, I hope you will vote for people who clearly love our country and our Constitution.

This is a must vote election.

When Livingston goes to the polls, common sense wins.

Doug Helzerman,
Fowlerville

—Area Deaths—

Suzanne Elizabeth Crawford

Suzanne Elizabeth Crawford, age 61, of Fowlerville, passed away Wednesday, October 7, 2026, in Ann Arbor, Michigan. She was born October 27, 1964, in Milford, Michigan, to Roger and Mary Ann (Wozniak) White.

Suzanne studied photography and fine arts and earned her bachelor's degree. Art remained a big part of her life. She was a potter who loved making ceramics, and she also enjoyed painting.

On May 22, 1999, she married David Crawford in Pinckney. Suzanne devoted herself to her home and family, and nothing meant more to her than raising her son, Jacob.

She was outgoing and full of life. She loved being outdoors and working in her garden, and she enjoyed hosting friends at the pool. Always by her side was her most dedicated companion, Riley, her Labrador.

Suzanne is survived by her loving husband, David; her son, Jacob Crawford; her siblings, Chuck (Janet) White, John (Val) White, Steve (Heidi) White, and Cathy Graham; and numerous nieces and nephews. She was preceded in death by her parents, Roger and Mary Ann White Suzanne's family will gather privately at a later date. Memorial contributions may be made to Livingston County Animal Shelter. Please leave a message of comfort to the Crawford family by calling 1.877.231.7900 or sign the guest book at borekjennings.com.

Fowlerville Senior Center: Decisions to be Made, Work Well Done & a Fundraiser

By Mark Thompson

It's been a busy week at the Fowlerville Senior Center, and it doesn't look like it's going to slow down anytime soon with several programs and opportunities open to members and nonmembers alike.

Randy Showerman, candidate for Fowlerville Village President, requested to meet with Senior Center members to discuss his candidacy. Randy was able to attend the Fowlerville Senior Center's monthly Membership Meeting and discuss his platform for Fowlerville Village President. During Randy's presentation Senior Center members were able to ask questions and discuss various village issues. After the Membership Meeting, Randy stayed and talked with individual senior center members and helped us celebrate senior center members' October birthdays.

Beth Neuman from Livingston Catholic Charities also spoke at the Fowlerville Senior Center's Membership Meeting regarding upcoming classes about Medicare and Medicare & Medicaid Fraud. Beth will be speaking at the Fowlerville Senior Center on Friday, October 23 from 11A – 12P. The topic will be "Medicare Fraud." This event is open to senior center members and nonmembers.

Beth also discussed the upcoming individual meetings with Senior Center members where she can discuss their individual health insurance policies, Medicare insurance policies and offer unbiased healthcare policy options which may be available to the members.

Each member will be given their healthcare options, but Beth is not selling any type of health insurance and will not advocate for specific healthcare policies. Her information will be unbiased. Any healthcare choices will be strictly up to the members to decide what are the best healthcare policy options for themselves.

Senior Center members Mark Thompson, Howard Green and WD Smith completed a small construction project in front of the Fowlerville Fairgrounds office. The project was the final work needed to display the hand-carved totem pole created by senior center members and the community at the 2026 Fowlerville Fair. Stop by the fair's office and check out the totem pole. It does look pretty good.

The Fowlerville Senior Center continues to seek donations for the Livingston County Animal Shelter. Items requested are dry Purina dog and cat food, towels, washcloths, thin blankets or flat sheets and easily cleaned pet toys. Your donations are appreciated and you can drop off items at the Fowlerville Senior Center, 203 N. Collins St, in Fowlerville, Monday through Friday 8:30A – 2:00P

On Thursday, October 22 from 6A- 9P our friends at the Fowlerville Farms Restaurant, 942 S. Grand Ave, will host a fundraiser for the Center. "The Farms" will donate 20% of all restaurant sales on this date. The Senior Center very much appreciates this support, and our members look forward to great breakfasts, lunches and dinners. If you can, take yourself, your spouse or family out for a good meal and a good cause.

Restaurant owners view fundraisers as a vital expression of gratitude toward loyal patrons, a commitment to sharing with neighbors, and a practical way to support individuals facing hardship.

Howell Area Chamber of Commerce announces 2026 Livingston ATHENA Leadership Award Recipients

The Howell Area Chamber of Commerce, in partnership with Presenting Sponsor Lake Trust Credit Union, has announced the recipients of the 2026 Livingston ATHENA Leadership Awards, recognizing three recipients whose impact within our communities reflects the principles at the heart of ATHENA Leadership.

The 2026 recipients are:

ATHENA Leadership Award: Patricia Claffey

ATHENA Youth Leadership Award: Cecilia Shand

ATHENA Organizational Leadership Award: LACASA Center

The recipients were honored at the Livingston ATHENA Leadership Awards held this past Thursday, Oct. 15, at Lake Trust Credit Union Headquarters.

At the heart of this year's event is a simple idea: leadership looks different on everyone.

Leadership isn't defined by a title. It shows in how we build relationships, advocate for others, navigate hard conversations, give back, keep learning and have the courage to move forward when something isn't easy.

Those ideas are reflected in the Eight Principles of ATHENA Leadership: Live Authentically, Learn Constantly, Build Relationships, Foster Collaboration, Act Courageously, Advocate Fiercely, Give Back and Celebrate.

"ATHENA challenges us to think differently about what leadership looks like. It isn't only about what you accomplish. It's about who you bring with you, the doors you open and what becomes possible for others because you choose to lead. Patricia, Cecilia and LACASA Center each demonstrate that in a different way, and together they represent the kind of leadership we want to continue cultivating throughout Livingston County," said Janelle Smith, President of the Howell Area Chamber of Commerce

Patricia Claffey | ATHENA Leadership Award

A former Chief Operating Officer of St. Joseph Mercy Livingston and current LACASA Board Chair, Claffey was recognized for a career of leadership and service that has included advancing healthcare, mentoring women leaders and helping lead major initiatives that have expanded resources for survivors of domestic violence, sexual assault and child abuse.

Cecilia Shand | ATHENA Youth Leadership Award

At 17, Brighton High School student Cecilia Shand founded Ballet Beyond Borders to expand access to dance for underserved youth and has used her leadership to champion inclusion and representation, including partnerships providing dancewear and ballet opportunities for children with disabilities.

LACASA Center | ATHENA Organizational Leadership Award

LACASA Center was recognized for creating a culture of mentorship, professional development and internal advancement where women have built long term careers and progressed from internships into senior leadership roles, while extending that commitment to empowering women and girls throughout the community. The evening is about more than presenting awards. It is an opportunity to bring women together from across Livingston County to connect, learn from one another and recognize the many ways leadership shows up in our businesses, organizations and community.

Madison June, co-host of WHMI 93.5's Morning Drive with Chuck & Madison, served as emcee for the evening. This year's keynote speaker was Michelle Gilbert, founder and Chief Engine Officer of Purple Engine Coaching & Consulting, who addressed something nearly every leader encounters: the conversations we would rather avoid. Her presentation, "Stop Avoiding the Conversation," will share practical strategies for navigating difficult conversations with confidence, clarity and purpose.

Livingston ATHENA is a program of the Howell Area Chamber of Commerce Foundation.

Promised but Not Given: When Rights Are Won, They Can Be Lost

By Jace Arledge

A three-part newspaper series-Part II

History gives us a painful lesson that every generation needs to remember: rights can be won, but they can also be lost.

In the first part of this series, I wrote about the Constitution, slavery, the long fight for voting rights, womens suffrage, citizenship, and the civil rights movement. The story did not end when a law was passed. Again and again, Americans discovered that writing a right into law was only the beginning.

We are living through that lesson again.

In Shelby County v. Holder in 2013, the Supreme Court struck down the formula that determined which states with histories of discrimination needed federal approval before changing their voting rules. By 2024, at least 31 states had passed more than 100 restrictive voting laws, according to the Brennan Center for Justice. On April 29, 2026, the Courts 6–3 decision in Louisiana v. Callais sharply narrowed Section 2 of the Voting Rights Act, the main remaining tool for challenging discriminatory district maps.

I think of the people who marched and bled for that law, and I wonder what they would say if they could see their work being undone.

Other freedoms have narrowed as well. In Dobbs v. Jackson Womens Health Organization in 2022, the Court overturned Roe v. Wade. As of 2026, thirteen states ban abortion almost entirely, meaning a womans freedom over her own medical decisions now depends heavily on which state she lives in and on the laws adopted there.

I know that many people of sincere faith see these decisions differently. Some see them as protecting life, returning power to voters, or treating everyone the same. I want to extend them the same grace I hope to receive.

But to many Americans, it feels like protections earlier generations fought hard to win are being taken away. That grief deserves to be heard too.

Still, this is not only a story of loss. As a person of faith, I refuse to give up hope.

On June 30, 2026, in Trump v. Barbara, the Supreme Court struck down an executive order that would have denied citizenship to many U.S.-born children of immigrant parents, reaffirming the principle of birthright citizenship that Wong Kim Ark won more than a century ago.

What earlier generations fought for can hold, as long as we keep defending it.

Defending these protections also means talking honestly about the words we use. We hear socialism, communism, and Marxism used constantly, often as warnings that these ideas will destroy the country. Some people use those words as labels for almost anything they dislike.

I understand the fear behind those words. Many of us grew up during the Cold War, and some families came here fleeing governments that truly did take away their freedom. But I have come to realize that many of us were never taught what these words actually mean or describe in a society. Used loosely, they become labels that frighten us rather than ideas we understand. That fear can keep us from an honest conversation about what we owe one another.

Scripture asks us, "Let your speech always be gracious." That begins with understanding what we are talking about. Capitalism means private ownership of property and businesses, with prices and wages set largely by markets. Socialism generally means major industries and the means of production are owned or controlled collectively, usually through government. Marxism is Karl Marx's nineteenth-century theory about conflict between workers and owners and the eventual development of socialism and communism. Communism, in theory, describes a classless society with property held in common; in practice, as in the Soviet Union, communist governments became one-party states that controlled the economy and denied basic freedoms. Social democracy is different again: a market economy with private ownership plus a strong safety net. A mixed economy combines free markets with public programs and regulation, which is what the United States has had for nearly a century.

These are not the same thing.

Beneath all these labels are programs so many of us use every day.

More than 75 million Americans receive Social Security or Supplemental Security Income. About 69 million rely on Medicare. More than 73 million are enrolled in Medicaid and CHIP, including millions of children. Millions more put food on the table with SNAP.

Add public schools, school lunches, libraries, fire departments, and veterans benefits.

Whatever our politics, many of us have leaned on these programs when a parent retired, a child became sick, or a job suddenly disappeared.

They are not abstractions.

They are how neighbors care for neighbors.

These programs, too, had to be fought for. Social Security was born in the Great Depression, and Medicare and Medicaid followed in 1965. Each was attacked as "socialism." Yet Medicare became one of our most popular programs, and the country remained free.

These protections can also be pulled back. Behind statistics about budgets and participation are real families making real choices. A parent choosing between groceries and rent is not an ideological abstraction.

People worry about cost and government overreach, and those are honest concerns. But caring for the elderly, the sick, the disabled, and children is not communism. It is what Jesus asked of us when He said, "just as you did it to one of the least of these brothers and sisters of mine, you did it to me."

A person who cannot see a doctor, feed their children, or retire with dignity is not truly free, no matter what the founding documents say.

There is another part of this conversation that can be difficult: privilege.

Having privilege does not mean your life has been easy or that you have not worked hard. It means there are struggles you have never had to face.

Privilege is rarely something we see. It is something we never have to think about. When we never have to think about a problem, it is easy to believe it does not exist. Jesus put it simply: "From everyone to whom much has been given, much will be required."

Privilege is not a sin. It is a stewardship.

I say this as someone who has tried, my entire life, to see the other side of the tracks. As a white person, I recognize that my life has carried privileges, yet they were never called privileges. They were simply called normal.

I never had to wonder whether the color of my skin would decide how a police officer, a teacher, a landlord, or a loan officer treated me. That is why I cannot stay silent when I hear the easy answers so many of us were raised on: "Just pull yourself up by your bootstraps, and you will succeed."

"Don't break the law, and you won't have a problem."

History tells us those statements are far from the truth.

It is hard to pull yourself up by your bootstraps when you have been denied the boots. And obeying the law has never protected people from laws that refused to protect them.

World War II offers a painful example. About 1.2 million Black Americans served their country in a military segregated by official policy. Black soldiers were treated as unequal even while risking their lives for the nation.

At Freeman Field in Indiana in April 1945, Black officers were arrested for entering a whites-only officers club, even though Army regulations said such clubs must be open to every officer. When 101 officers refused to sign an order accepting segregation, they were arrested too.

They had not broken the law.

They had insisted that it be followed.

Black women served too. The 855 women of the 6888th Central Postal Directory Battalion, nearly all of them Black, crossed an ocean patrolled by German submarines and cleared years of backlogged mail for American troops while being housed and fed apart from white soldiers.

Coming home brought no welcome for many Black veterans. In 1946, Sergeant Isaac Woodard was taken off a bus in South Carolina, still in uniform, and beaten by police so badly that he was blinded for life.

Black veterans returned to a country that had asked them to fight for freedom while denying them equal treatment at home.

This is not ancient history. It happened within the lifetime of some who will read this, and to the parents and grandparents of many more.

Every one of those people was human.

Every one was a child of God.

That should have been enough.

And it was not.

Facing that truth is not an attack on our country. It is a way of honoring the people our country failed.

Grace does not ask us to look away from the truth.

It gives us the strength to face it.

And once we face it, another question becomes unavoidable: What do we do with what we now know?

That question brings us to the final part of this series.

Because statistics can be argued with. History can be debated. But it is much harder to argue with a neighbor who tells you what it was like to be turned away, to go without, or to be treated as less.

The final part of this series is about those neighbors, the invisible lines that divide our communities, and what Jesus means when He asks us to cross the road.

It is about crossing the tracks.

U.S Senate Report

By Elissa Slotkin, Michigan 119th

Human Trafficking Act passes Senate unanimously

The bipartisan, bicameral Enhancing Detection of Human Trafficking Act, introduced by U.S. Senators Elissa Slotkin (D-MI) and Jon Husted (R-OH), along with Reps. Tim Walberg (R-MI) and Lucy McBath (D-GA), passed the Senate unanimously last week and is now headed to the president's desk to be signed into law.

The Enhancing Detection of Human Trafficking Act:

- Directs the Department of Labor (DOL) to train its employees to identify human trafficking and refer suspected trafficking crimes to law enforcement.
- Requires the DOL to submit annual reports to Congress detailing its training and referral efforts, beginning no later than one year after the DOL implements the program.

In 2023, law enforcement recorded 254 confirmed human trafficking cases involving 506 victims in Michigan.

"The fight against human trafficking should never be a partisan issue," said Senator Slotkin. "Survivors and victims in Michigan and across the country are owed justice, accountability, and meaningful action to prevent these crimes from happening in the first place. Our bipartisan bill, the Enhancing Detection of Human Trafficking Act, provides the Department of Labor with the necessary framework to address these unthinkable crimes head-on. I am proud to have worked alongside my colleagues to get this important legislation passed and look forward to seeing it signed into law." "Human trafficking can hide in plain sight, and this bill will help more people recognize the warning signs," said Representative Walberg. "I'm glad the Senate unanimously passed my bill and sent it to President Trump's desk. By giving Department of Labor employees the right training, we can help identify victims sooner and get potential cases to law enforcement."

Walberg introduced the companion bill to the Enhancing Detection of Human Trafficking in the House of Representatives. The bill passed the House on March 3, 2026.

How long can a body be kept before burial or cremation?

By Aaron Franks, 'Aaron the Funeral Guy'

I recently received a question from someone who was curious about how long a funeral home can keep a deceased person before burial or cremation has to take place. Is there a certain number of days? Can someone be kept for weeks, or even months? And what determines how long is too long? It's a good question, and the answer isn't quite as simple as you might think. While Michigan has laws regarding the care and final disposition of the deceased, the amount of time a person's body can be preserved really depends on the individual and the circumstances.

When someone dies and is brought into the care of a funeral home, we have a responsibility to make sure they are properly cared for until burial or cremation takes place. Depending on the circumstances, that may involve refrigeration, embalming, or both. Refrigeration slows the natural changes that occur after death, while embalming uses chemicals to temporarily preserve the body. Neither method stops decomposition permanently, but both can allow additional time for funeral arrangements to be made.

As an embalmer, I can tell you that no two people respond exactly the same way to preservation. A person's physical condition before death, certain medical conditions, medications, the circumstances surrounding their death, and how much time has passed before preservation begins can all make a difference. One person may remain in very good condition for several weeks following embalming, while another may begin showing changes much sooner. That's why it would be impossible for me to tell someone that every embalmed body can be kept for a specific number of days.

There is also a difference between keeping someone in our care and keeping them suitable for an open-casket viewing. A deceased person may be properly cared for through refrigeration even when their condition would no longer make viewing advisable. When a family is considering delaying a funeral, that's something we evaluate based on the condition of their loved one rather than simply looking at the calendar.

Now, when it comes to Michigan law, there are some requirements worth understanding. Michigan generally requires a funeral director who has agreed to provide funeral services to supervise final disposition within 60 days, although the law recognizes certain circumstances that may justify a delay. These can include difficulties obtaining necessary authorizations, medical examiner investigations, seasonal conditions, scheduling issues, or requests from the person legally authorized to make funeral arrangements. That 60-day requirement deals with completing final disposition. It doesn't mean a body will remain preserved or suitable for viewing for 60 days. Another thing that can affect the timeline is the paperwork required before burial or cremation can take place. For example, in Michigan, cremation cannot proceed until the medical certification of death has been completed by the physician or other authorized medical certifier and the required cremation permit has been endorsed by the county medical examiner. While these steps are usually completed without much difficulty, occasional delays can occur, and they are not something a funeral director can simply bypass.

Of course, paperwork isn't the only reason a funeral might be delayed. Sometimes family members need to travel from another state or country. Other times, a family wants to wait until a particular date so everyone can attend. Cemetery schedules, holidays, and winter burial conditions can also affect when services take place. In these situations, we work with the family to determine what is reasonable while making sure their loved one continues to receive appropriate care.

So, can a body be kept for a month? In some circumstances, yes. Could it be longer? Depending on the person's condition, the preservation methods being used, and the legal circumstances, that may also be possible. But there is an important difference between what is physically possible and what is legally permitted, and neither should be determined without considering the individual situation.

Ultimately, there is no single answer to how long a deceased person can be kept before burial or cremation. Every situation is different, and part of our responsibility as funeral directors is helping families understand what is possible, what is required, and what is in the best interest of their loved one.

Is there something about funerals, cremation, or funeral service you've always wondered about? Send me your questions or ideas at aaronthefuneralguy@gmail.com. You might just inspire a future article!

Unraveling the Ribbon (film), Book and Indigenous Tea Tasting
Unraveling the Ribbon, is a short documentary (20 mins.), exploring the deep cultural, spiritual, and political meaning of the Native American ribbon skirt. Worn with pride, each skirt tells a personal and collective story of resilience, identity, and ancestral connection. Once forced underground, the ribbon skirt reemerged after the 1978 Religious Freedom Act, becoming a powerful symbol of Indigenous survival and sovereignty. Women across generations share how the skirts are part of ceremony, personal healing, political resistance, and creative expression. Event includes a reading of Stitches of Tradition, the beautiful picture book by Native American author, Marcie Rendon. Synopsis: The story follows an Ojibwe grandmother (nookomis) who sews beautiful handmade ribbon skirts for her granddaughter to wear during ceremonies and milestone moments in life. It highlights family love, resilience, and the cultural significance of ribbon skirts in Ojibwe traditions. Copies of the book will be given away to participants. One per household, while supplies last. A variety of brewed indigenous teas will be served for tasting.
Tues., Nov. 17 ● 6pm

Thanks-Giving and Taking: The Factual and Fictional History of an American Holiday
There's probably no holiday cozier than Thanksgiving brimming with family, friends, and way too much food. The holiday brings us all together every year as a nation and a community. Our warm fuzzy feelings are real, but they are built upon one of the nation's most enduring myths: that of the peaceful friendship of the Pilgrims and the Native Americans. The feast this holiday is meant to commemorate was the briefest of reprieves from a century of conflict between Indigenous New Englanders and the colonists who increasingly preyed upon Indigenous goodwill until they had taken every piece of the pie. How do we square this ugly history with the warm-fuzzies of the season supposedly built upon love and togetherness?

Join us for this exploration of the reasons for the season, where we will dive into the foundations of American history to explore the actual events of "the first Thanksgiving" and how this myth became so strongly embedded in the nation's collective memory. Presented by Eric Toups, professor of history at the University of Michigan. He studies and teaches the history of colonial-Indigenous interactions and contact in pre-revolution American history in addition to environmental history. Originally from New Orleans, Louisiana, he has made Michigan his home for the past two years alongside his wife, Ananya, and their little mop of a dog, Oscar. Tues., Nov. 10 ● 6:30pm

Webberville High-School Celebrates Homecoming Royalty

Written in Collaboration with Evaleen Diaz

Webberville High School celebrated its annual homecoming festivities on October 9, bringing students, staff, alumni, and community members together for a memorable celebration filled with school pride, tradition, and excitement. From the crowning of this year's homecoming king and queen to the alumni football game and school dance, the festivities highlighted the strong connections that make Webberville such a special community.

A special moment of the celebration came when 2025–2026 Homecoming King Ethan West and Queen Ella Howard returned to crown this year's winners, Camdyn Bucchanon and Fiona Chuba. The tradition connected past and present students while celebrating the accomplishments of this year's king and queen. The crowning was a memorable highlight, bringing excitement and smiles to classmates, friends, and families gathered for the occasion.

This year's homecoming football game featured an alumni game, giving former Webberville athletes an opportunity to return, reconnect, and celebrate their school pride. The game brought generations of Spartans together, creating a special atmosphere that honored the school's history while allowing current students and community members to share in the excitement. The alumni game was a reminder that the spirit of Webberville extends far beyond graduation.

Students from each grade also played an important role in the homecoming celebration. The representatives included freshmen Korbin Matiyow and Kylie Schriner; sophomores Tucker Lott and Jordyn Odett; juniors Levi Howard and Jenna Lycos; and seniors Cecilia Bedwell, Keegan Branch, Jonah Spencer, Jane Wilder, Dominic Driver and Hope Herbert. Each representative brought their own personality, enthusiasm, and school spirit to the festivities.

From the crowning ceremony to the alumni football game and school dance, Webberville's homecoming celebration was about more than a single event. It was an opportunity to honor tradition, celebrate students, reconnect with alumni, and strengthen the bonds that unite the school community. The cheers, laughter, and shared memories reflected the true spirit of homecoming.

2026 Webberville High School Homecoming Queen and King honors went to Fiona Chuba and Camdyn Bucchanon.

Letter to the Editor

In just a few days, residents of Webberville will have the opportunity to bring change to the school district. More than half of the elected Board could be replaced. Your vote will help determine the next years of Webberville Community Schools.

Like most local school boards in Michigan, some of the board positions are on the ballot each election year. This helps with continuity in effectiveness. If the entire board is changed in the same election, months could pass before the members would fully understand all the intricate details of governing a school district.

I served on the Webberville School Board in the late 1990's until 2009. Over the course of ten years, I worked with many different community members, attempting to make the district a better place. Now I can only cast a vote to impact change. And while I no longer live in the district, I remain a land owner. I no longer have children in the district, only one grandchild. So I continue to have a vested interest in the quality of this district.

There is an opportunity this year to elect four new members, to put the incumbents in the minority. I urge voters to do this.

Webberville Community Schools is not unlike many districts in the state. There are a number of challenges that must be faced and handled with objectivity, courage, and dedication. There are situations that suggest the current board does not succeed in this. Ask these questions:

If you have a child in the elementary grades, does he or she have a dedicated science teacher? A social studies teacher? A specific teacher whose focus is art, one whose focus is music, and a separate physical education teacher? They have had these professionals in years past. I suspect you will find that there are fewer and fewer specialized teachers each year since 2020.

Ask your child about school-led enrichment opportunities, especially field trips, or presentations by outside professionals. I suspect you will find that all of these issues are addressed far less than they were when the current board, and the current superintendent began as this administration.

If you have students in the upper grades (6 - 12), inquire about the face-to-face instruction options. How many different math or science classes are available on site by staff members? What art or music classes are offered? What enrichment programs exist outside of the standard curriculum? FFA? Theatre? Robotics? Honor clubs? How many of the programs that do exist are under the purview of the district, or do they only exist because of volunteer community groups?

What about counseling services? There may exist adequate academic counseling, but this is the absolute minimum that should exist in our society today. So many other services need to be offered in today's public schools.

What about sports? Is there a complete variety for students of all athletic interests, or only the mainstream teams (football, basketball, cheer, volleyball and track)?

What about the maintenance of the facilities? There were trained professionals that cared for the buildings and grounds in the past. Is there a full staff to care for the facilities? Are they trained in plumbing, electrician skills, health, safety, and sanitary issues, mechanical workings of a facility that houses the young people of this community? What specific training has the supervisor of that area received to justify the salary and benefits of that position?

If there are problems, can family or community members access the leadership on a regular basis? Is the superintendent available the majority of every day? Is the office of the superintendent staffed all day, every day? These individuals are paid significant salaries to form a full time leadership team. Are they actually providing that? Are they actually available to serve the public far more than they are not?

I suggest that the condition of the school and the services provided have declined in the past five years. The Board of Education is responsible for policies and practices that improve services provided to the young people of Webberville, and the hiring of a leader. Is this superintendent, hired by the school board, paid a salary any more generous, with a greater percentage of the overall budget, than other districts in Ingham County, most of whom have larger student bodies and much larger budgets?* And yet each year, there is fewer dollars available for school employees, departmental programs, and on-site services for these children that are the future for all of the community.

I urge members of the community to vote for NON-incumbant candidates. The actions and the direction of the district has not been what the voters, the taxpayers and the children of Webberville deserve. It's time to start over.

With respect to ALL of the Webberville Community,

Note: Compensation of employees of public schools is a matter of public record; all members of the community have not only a right but also a duty to know this information.*

Kathleen Westbrook,
Webberville School Board member 1999 - 2009

Webberville Report

The Webberville Volleyball Varsity girls celebrate after getting an amazing block.

The Webberville Volleyball JV girls are getting ready to shake hands before playing a great game.

Webberville JV & Varsity Volleyball Teams play annual Dig Pink games

Written in collaboration by Hazel Spencer

Webberville's JV and Varsity volleyball teams had their annual Dig Pink fundraiser games on Thursday, Oct. 1st. Students, staff, families, and community members showed their support by wearing pink and attending the Webberville vs. Montrose game at home.

Both teams were eager to play and hopefully win their games. The JVs played two sets, the first set ending at 25-11, and the second ending in 25-23.

The JV girls were excited to get a win for one of their favorite games of the season.

Team captain Madison Culver said that "It was great to have our peers cheering us on. The energy in the gym was ecstatic! It was a great win. In spite of us slipping in the beginning of the second set we managed to pull through."

The Varsity volleyball team had an impressive rally with Montrose, too. They played all five sets, with the first set ending as 25-20, the second set 17-25, the third set 27-25, the fourth set 20-25, and the fifth set was 12-15.

Freshman Michaela Storey commented that "Even though we lost, I feel like we pushed ourselves no matter what. We put up a good fight."

This tough loss isn't going to hold them back from more wins this season. Both teams overall showed determination, teamwork, and school spirit during this year's Dig Pink Game!

Williamston Farm & Artisan Market regular season ends, but will hold two Holiday events

The Williamston Farm & Artisan Market wrapped up the regular season last Sunday, Oct. 11th, thanking its Customers and Vendors with free coffee and the final monthly drawing for a $10 gift certificate for participants in the Customer Loyalty Program, won by Eric Hansor of Williamston.

The Market is grateful to its Silver Level Annual Market Sponsors, KP Dentistry and Little Leap Learning Center, both based in Williamston.

The regular Market season may have ended but there are two Holiday Markets scheduled to close out the 2026 season, both are on Sundays, November 22 and December 13 and both will be held comfortably inside at the Williamston Area Senior Center, 500 Williamston Center Road. Each Market will operate from 10am to 2pm, and are filling up fast with excellent vendors. Shop for your holiday feasts for fresh, local ingredients including all kinds of meat, cheese, apples, winter squash, spices, herbs, sweet and savory baked goods, and a wide variety of artisan products and crafts, creating the perfect gifts in their workshops, sewing rooms, and art studios.

Shopping at the Market supports local farmers, gardeners, and craft and artisan businesses.

Those Holiday Markets will continue to accept Bridge cards and provide double-up food bucks, so the buying power of shoppers using their EBT card is doubled when purchasing fruits and veggies.

Vendors can apply for the few spaces remaining in the Holiday Markets by sending an email to Info@SowingGrowth.org to request an application, or contact Market Manager Michelle Greko directly at 616-319-1595.

Eric Hansor of Williamston accepts a $10 gift from the Williamston Farm & Artisan Market Manager Michelle Greko on Sunday, October 11th, as his card was pulled in the final drawing for the 2026 season of the Customer Loyalty Program. Photo courtesy of the Williamston Farm & Artisan Market

During the November-April off-season, the Market's most popular fundraiser, collecting Michigan returnable bottles and cans, continues on two Sundays each month so they don't pile up in the garage. On these Sundays, look for the Can Van between 11am and 1pm, rain, shine or snow: November 1 & 15; December 6 & 20; January 3 & 17; Feb 7 & 21; March 7 & 21; April 4 & 18; and May 2nd. Every dime adds up to support the expenses of the Market.

If your business collects bottles and cans, consider donating them as well. Special collections can be made directly at business addresses during the week. Just call Jane (517-525-4177) to make arrangements for special pick-ups.

Opening Day of the 2027 Market season will be Sunday, May 9th, Mother's Day!

Interested in becoming a Market Day Supporter? For any individual, business or friend of the Market, a $100 contribution funds expenses unique to that Market day's theme. There are sponsorship opportunities also to support the Nature Discovery monthly exhibits, as well as Annual Sponsorships at various tiered levels. Just send an email requesting the details: Info@SowingGrowth.org.

For more information about Sowing Growth, the non-profit organization that operates the Williamston Farm and Artisan Market, to be added to the newsletter email list, to volunteer or to donate to the Market, contact Sowing Growth at: Info@SowingGrowth.org.

Michigan House Report

By State Rep. Jason Woolford, 50th District

Michigan schools have the funding. Now it's time to deliver results.

Michigan's new school budget has been in place since July, and schools are now well into the academic year. The money has been approved, the programs have been funded, and it is time to focus on what taxpayers are getting in return.

For years, Lansing has talked about education funding as though spending more money automatically means our children are getting a better education.

But Michigan's reading scores tell a different story.

Too many students are struggling with basic reading and math skills. We cannot keep celebrating record education spending while students are falling behind.

The 2026-27 state education budget increased the per-pupil foundation allowance by $250, bringing it to $10,300 per student. It also included significant investments in literacy, preschool programs, tutoring and opportunities for high school students to earn college credit.

Those investments have already been made. Now we need to make sure they actually accomplish something.

One of the biggest priorities in the budget was improving literacy. Michigan committed $75 million to train teachers in phonics-based reading instruction, $52.5 million for literacy coaches, $50 million for evidence-based reading curriculum and another $50 million for tutoring.

That is a substantial amount of taxpayer money directed at a problem we have known about for years.

If a child cannot read at grade level, that child is going to struggle in nearly every other subject. And the longer we allow students to fall behind, the harder it becomes for them to catch up.

We have the funding in place to address this problem. Now schools need to put those resources to work and demonstrate that students are making progress.

Parents should not have to wait until their child is several grade levels behind to find out something is wrong. Schools need to identify struggling students early, provide the help they need and be upfront with families about their progress.

The budget also included a $73 million increase for prekindergarten programs. The goal is to give more children access to early education before they enter kindergarten.

But expanding a program is not the same as improving outcomes. We need to know whether those children are entering school better prepared to learn.

If we're spending taxpayers' money, we had better be able to show it's working.

Another investment worth paying attention to is the $40 million for dual enrollment programs, including expanded access for students attending nonpublic schools.

I believe parents should have the freedom to choose the education that works for their children. Students should not be denied opportunities simply because their families chose a private or nonpublic school.

Dual enrollment gives students the chance to earn college credits while they are still in high school, potentially saving families thousands of dollars in tuition costs.

But we also need to remember that college is not the only path to success.

Michigan needs electricians, welders, mechanics, builders and skilled workers who know how to get the job done. Not every student wants or needs a four-year degree, and there is nothing wrong with that.

The budget also included investments in career and technical education. Those programs need to be focused on preparing students for actual jobs, not just checking another box on a government spending report.

And while the state has a responsibility to make sure schools have the resources they need, parents and students have responsibilities as well.

Parents need to stay involved in their children's education. Students need to show up, pay attention and do the work. Teachers need the ability to maintain order in their classrooms and hold students to reasonable expectations.

Government cannot spend its way around a lack of discipline or accountability.

I want our schools to succeed. I want teachers to have the tools they need, and I want students to graduate with the skills necessary to build a future for themselves.

But we have to stop pretending that spending more money automatically means we are providing a better education.

Michigan taxpayers are putting more money into education, and they have every right to expect results. If our students still cannot read at grade level, we need to ask tough questions about what is happening in our classrooms and where that money is going.

We cannot keep measuring success by how much Lansing spends. We need to measure it by what our kids are learning.

That is the standard our schools should be held to, and I am not interested in lowering it.

As always, please reach out to me if you have any questions or input you would like to share. You can call my office at (517) 373-3906 or email me at JasonWoolford@House.MI.Gov.

Big Red Barrell available at Recycle Livingston on Saturday Nov. 7th

Big Red Barrel will be at Recycle Livingston from 9am-1pm on Saturday, Nov. 7th. We will be collecting sharps and medication. This is a free service. No questions asked. Put pills in a zip lock container, they can be mixed together. We prefer not to have the medicine container. Keep liquid medications separate. Dump into a zip lock bag with enough paper towel to soak up the liquid. Needles must be the proper disposal container, either purchased from a pharmacy or use a plastic laundry detergent bottle. Reseal the bottle and tape it. Do your part to keep medications from being abused. Do not flush unused medication. The Big Red Barrel Project is part of Livingston County Community Alliance.

FOWLERVILLE COMMUNITY SCHOOLS
National School Bus Safety Week
October 19-23, 2026

Safety Reminders for Motorists

- The overall best practice is to "always stop if there's a school bus."
- Yellow flashing lights indicate the bus is preparing to stop to load or unload children. Motorists should slow down and prepare to stop their vehicles.
- Motorists may begin moving only when the red flashing lights are turned off, the stop-arm is withdrawn, and the bus begins to move.
- Never pass on the right side of the bus, where children enter or exit. This is illegal and can have tragic results.
- The greatest risk to a child isn't riding a school bus, but approaching or leaving one. That's why, as a vehicle driver, it is especially important to pay attention. Students' lives are on the line.
- Slow down. Watch for children walking in the street, especially if there are no sidewalks in the neighborhood. Watch for children playing and gathering near bus stops.
- Don't drive distracted. Be alert. Children arriving for the bus may dart into the street without looking for traffic.
- Watch out for young people who may be distracted and not paying attention to the traffic around them.

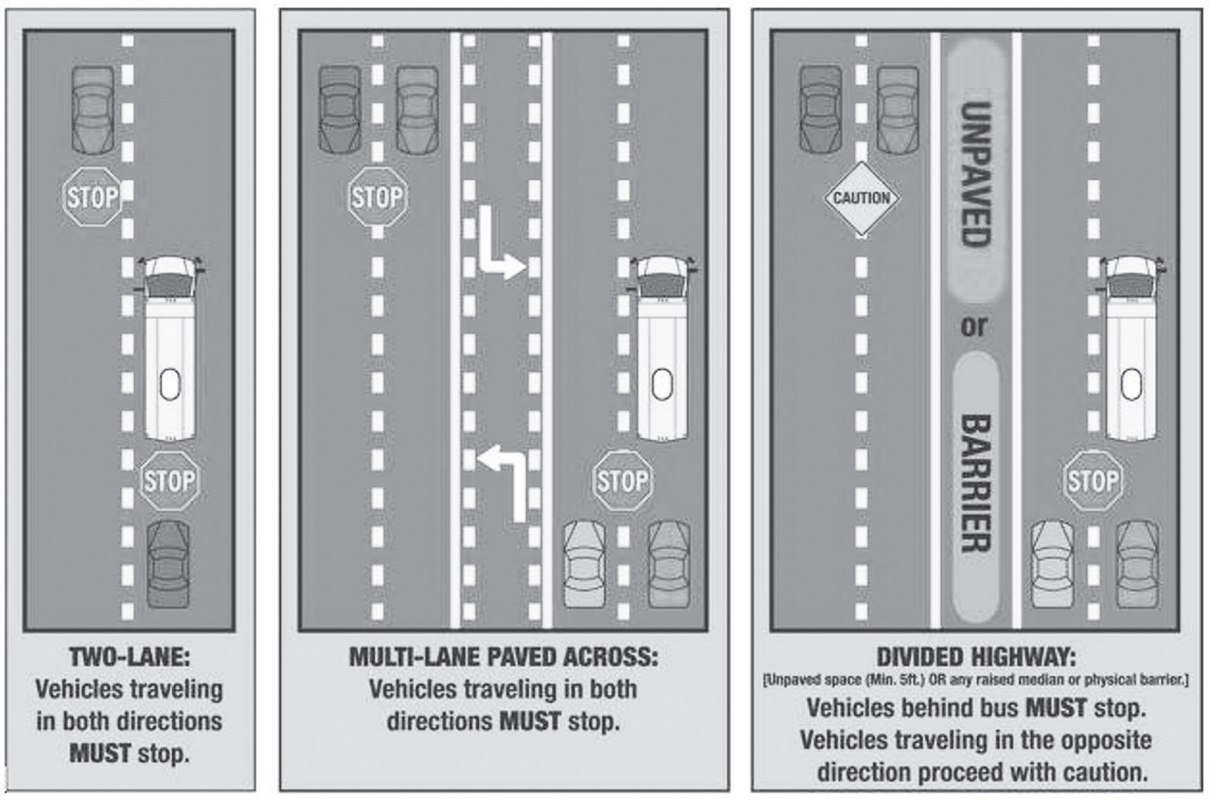

In Michigan

- Drivers who pass stopped school buses may be charged with civil infractions carrying a fine up to $500, and up to $100 in costs.
- Drivers who pass a stopped school bus and cause a death are subject to a felony with either a fine up to $7,500 or up to 15 years in jail.

Operation Safe Stop (OSS) has become nationally known as a successful law enforcement strategy for calling public attention to the dangers of illegally passing school buses and for lowering the incidence of such illegal passing. Each day in Michigan, there are 15,000 school buses transporting 700,000 children for more then 900,000 miles.

The objective is twofold: (1) to raise awareness of the danger for children when drivers violate the law requiring them to STOP for a school bus loading or unloading children, and (2) to educate children, parents, school staff, and motorists about the school bus zone, danger zone, safe walking, and key school bus safety rules and tips.

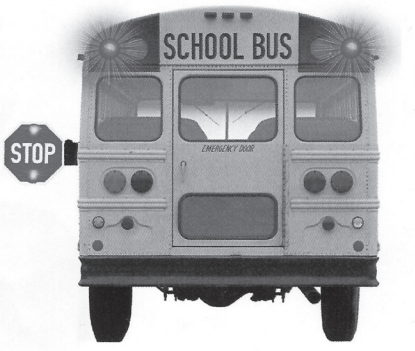

RULES FOR A STOPPED SCHOOL BUS

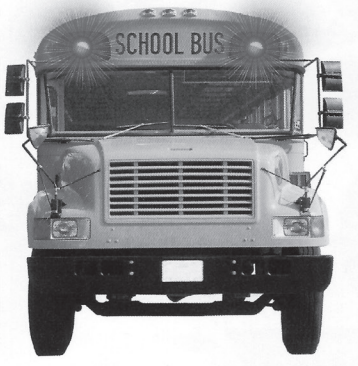

SCHOOL BUSES WITH OVERHEAD
RED AND YELLOW LIGHTS
(With or Without Bus Stop Signs)

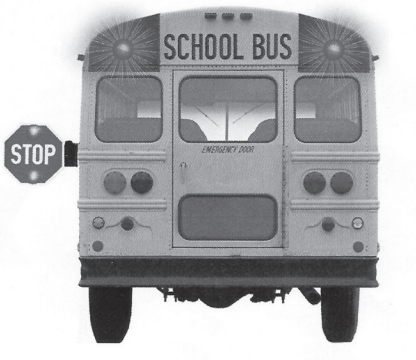

1. Yellow lights are flashing — prepare to stop.
2. Red lights are flashing — stop no closer than 20 feet from the bus.
3. Red lights turned off — proceed.

SCHOOL BUSES WITH OVERHEAD

Family is Everything

By Susan Kretchman

"A father loves completely, gives quietly, teaches gently and inspires deeply."

Though not consumed by it at all, this week my thoughts have been infiltrated by quiet reminders about my dad. His birthday is Oct. 15, he would have been 105. He died in 2012 after living a pretty amazing life, taken down for the last 3 years by the horrible effects of Alzheimer's Disease, an illness I wish on no one. This disease robs people of dignity, purpose, awareness of day to day life complete with daily routines or occasions to celebrate family experiences. Mainly, being in the midst of the disease's throes steals precious memories and ability to communicate. As much as it deeply saddened me and my family to see our dad and grandfather live in anguish, the disease didn't define his life. It was merely the closing chapter of his life's book, with less words written to describe that time as compared to almost 90 years of a life that thrived.

Did my father love completely? I don't have enough space or words to fully answer that question. In simple terms, yes. "Family is everything" was one of his last formed phrases after moving into assisted living care. Conversations during those three years slowly declined in substance. Searching for the right word became a common struggle, yet those three words often summed up every visit with him.

Quiet and gentle? Those are two very good adjectives for dad. I don't remember a raised voice or harsh word spoken to any of us kids. Discipline came with reasonable conversations, direct instructions, sometimes with just enough sarcasm to accompany a serious facial expression to drive home his point. Physical punishment didn't exist in our childhood years. Maybe it was because my grandfather had taken liberty with spankings that left emotional scars and a decision to "do differently" with us kids.

Did my dad teach gently and inspire deeply? I smile remembering how many times my brother Mark's bike lay in pieces on the driveway. For some reason, Mark enjoyed taking things apart, learning how to reassemble. Dad's only complaint was that too many times missing tools from his workbench interfered with completing his own projects. Mark was the one who dad took along on home improvement projects he did as side jobs to earn extra income for our family. Mark had the aptitude and interest in learning how to measure, plan, and build which came in handy when he built his own home years ago. Not surprisingly, dad was there to help, still able to climb a ladder and yield a hammer well into his late 60s at the time. Brother Dave didn't get the gift of craftsmanship by any means. What he lacked in that department was made up with an appetite to read books, retain the knowledge he gained and hold conversations with anyone he met. He was a natural athlete even though he never played an organized sport. His physical strength came in handy to carry building materials. Dave was more comfortable with a book on his lap instead of a hammer in his hand.

Inspiration from dad was given mostly from example versus verbal encouragement or commentary. We knew how to love because we witnessed firsthand how he embraced family, his own as well as in-law members. Acceptance of each one seems to have come easily to him. I like to think it's because he had seen how his parents lovingly accepted a variety of 11 sons and daughters in law as each child married.

Dad took our family to church, too. Growing up as a kid on a farm, it was his mother who took responsibility to get the children to church. When attending in person wasn't possible, "church" was held in the living room. She was the family's spiritual leader for many years. My mother was raised going to church since birth and her relationship with Christ was foremost in her life. Dad joined her church after they married and that's the one we attended until I left home. He became a trusted quiet leader in the congregation, yet I can recall times he spoke his mind at board meetings, never to condemn someone's opinions, rather to shed common sense biblical truth on matters of discussion.

So, as I think about his birthday rolling around again, I can't help but smile. I am deeply grateful for his life and the role he embraced in my own life teaching, encouraging, correcting, leading by example from a spirit of wonderful love.

"Family is everything." I'd love to hear him say those three words one more time. That last time he spoke to me he was struggling. He had taken hold of my hands and looked at me with great intention as he wanted to express "something", trying to push aside the clouds of dementia swarming in his mind. At that moment, I didn't need a long flowing narrative about whatever was anchoring his thoughts. Those three words spoke everything I needed to hear… love and gentle quietness in an aged mind, surrounded by circumstances and precious memories that spanned a life worth living.

* * *

According to census.gov the number of children living in fatherless homes has doubled in the last 50 years. That statistic is heartbreaking. It's also a reflection that "something" has become broken in our family relationships. Whatever the reasons for this outcome, I pray that our children will become a priority to fathers everywhere.

Letter to the Editor

Every one's life is busy and after all we can get almost all the information we are seeking by using an electronic device to search out information on any given subject matter, from how to fix this or that to what's going on with national and local government. It's pretty easy to follow national news and events including elected officials. Not always easy to follow local news or specific local government. There is an option to remedy that situation, and the investment is one-to-two hours of your time per month, by going to your local township or city monthly meeting.

The benefits far outweigh the cost of your time. In what you gain, you get to meet the elected officials and others that are participating in local governing. You learn firsthand what's going on locally and best of all you have a voice as there are calls to the public where our views can be expressed. For me, I have come to know or better understand these local leaders and learned that they are representing me. Of course, I don't agree on everything, but I know firsthand what direction our local government is heading in. Again, if I have a dissenting opinion or view, I'm given the opportunity to voice those views.

Another benefit is state representatives and other elected officials including county commissioners attend some of the meetings. Where we have the opportunity to meet and talk directly to them. You hear about all kinds issues from ordinance enforcement to cost expenditures. The meetings are well organized and quick moving; however, at the same time there is time given for discussion, and that includes those of us sitting in attendance. It is democracy at work.

I have gotten to witness citizens come to a meeting and voice their concerns, and to be heard. I have learned that my township leadership, through their actions, have demonstrated compassion. I have also learned that this group of elected officials care deeply about our community. I would ask you to make or take the time to attend your local township or city meeting. I bet you will be pleasantly surprised in how well they provide governance to your area. But best of all is you have a voice. "We the People."

Knights of Columbus holding sock & t-shirt drive; hosting breakfast

The local Knights of Columbus Council from St. Agnes Parish in Fowlerville, Michigan are once again sponsoring a sock and t-shirt drive for the Veterans at the VA Hospital in Ann Arbor. Through the generous donations of the Fowlerville Community, the 2025 event brought in over 1100 articles of clothing to help meet our Veteran's needs.

This year's event will run from October 24th through November 15th. The Knights will be accepting donations of new white socks and white t-shirts (unused with store tags attached). The Knights will collect all clothing donations after each weekend. Donations can also be dropped off at the parish offices during the weeks in between.

On Sunday, November 8th, The Knights will be hosting a Sunday breakfast from 9:00 AM to 11:00 AM to aid in this clothing drive. A free will donation is asked of all who join us for breakfast. All net proceeds from the breakfast will go towards the purchase of additional socks and t-shirts.

The VA is currently seeing their patient load as 90% male and 10% female. Men's sizes should be between medium and extra-large. Women's sizes should be between small and large. The collected white socks and white t-shirts will be donated to the Ann Arbor VA between Veteran's Day and the Thanksgiving Holiday.

So please join us in our goal of helping our Veterans. Donate white socks or white t-shirts at St. Agnes Parish offices between October 24th and November 15th or after each weekend mass. Then plan on joining us for a wonderful breakfast on November 8th.

Assist other agencies:

Officer Fairbotham was requested to assist the LCSO Deputies with a suspect vehicle that was involved in a breaking and entering in Handy Township. Officer Fairbotham then observed the vehicle to be parked at a convenience store outside the Village and notified the LCSO Deputy who was responding to the call. Officer Fairbotham waited for additional units to arrive and then assisted with the investigation and cleared a short time later.

Officer Austin was requested to assist the LCSO Deputies with a pursuit that was on I-96 approaching Fowlerville. Officer Austin was able to set "Stop Sticks" up and the suspect vehicles tire were incapacitated and a short distance later the suspect stopped and Deputies took the suspect in custody.

Additional information:

SRO Officer Edmonds attended the Learn and Grow meet-and-greet event, where he enjoyed interacting with the children, handing out police swag, and showing them his patrol car. He also took the time to answer questions from both the children and staff. These events are some of our favorites, and we love connecting with and building positive relationships with our amazing community!

Administrative Assistant Brie and I were honored to serve as guest readers for the Great Pooh Read-Aloud Community Readathon, hosted by the Fowlerville District Library! Each guest reader shared a portion of the beloved Winnie-the-Pooh book with children in attendance. The readings were also recorded so children who were unable to attend could enjoy the stories, too. A special thank-you to the Fowlerville District Library for organizing this wonderful community event and for inviting us to be a part of it. We love opportunities like these that bring our community together and help foster a love of reading among children!

Congratulations to Officer Edmonds on Receiving the 2026 Community Service Award!

Officer Edmonds has been honored with the 2026 Community Service Award by the Howell American Legion in recognition of his outstanding service to the citizens of Livingston County. The American Legion Awards Committee selected Officer Edmonds in recognition of his exceptional dedication to the Fowlerville Police Department and the community he proudly serves. With 10 years of service to the department and his impactful work as the Fowlerville School Resource Officer, Officer Edmonds has made a lasting difference in the lives of countless students, families, and community members. Through his commitment to building positive relationships, supporting local schools, and serving others, Officer Edmonds exemplifies what it means to go above and beyond the call of duty.

Please join us in congratulating Officer Edmonds on this well-deserved recognition! We are proud to have him as part of our team and grateful for the positive impact he continues to make throughout our community.

Respectfully Submitted
John J. Tyler, Chief of Police

St. Agnes Catholic Church sponsoring trip to Firekeepers Casino on Nov. 18th

St. Agnes' next scheduled trip to Firekeepers Casino is Wednesday, Nov. 18. We will be offering a full hot breakfast at 9:00am, at St. Agnes Church, 855 E Grand River Avenue, Fowlerville, in the Lothamer Parish Center (LPC) prior to departing at 10:00am, on Wednesday morning.

We will be going to Firekeepers Casino in Battle Creek. The cost is $60 and includes round trip bus transportation, $20 in free slot play and $5 to use towards dining, slot play or in the gift shop. A Blue Lakes Charter Motorcoach will leave the St. Agnes Church parking lot at 10:00am. Anticipated arrival time back in Fowlerville is 5:30pm. To pre-register: contact Lisa at the parish office at 517-223-8684 or email at stagnesfowlerville@gmail.com. First come first served, and ALL are welcome to join us for a fun day out!

Michigan DNR Fishing Tips-

Why is fall fishing so great?

Many anglers will tell you that as fall rolls in, the fishing gets better. But why is this?

There isn't much formal research to answer that question, but several factors could be contributing to this influx of angling opportunities: forage availability, dropping water temperatures, fish movement, or oxygen availability.

Some say it could just be related to less fishing pressure or better angling techniques.

The bottom line: if you don't consider fall to be an ideal time to go fishing, you may want to rethink that sentiment. Some of the biggest crappie, muskellunge, walleye and smallmouth bass can be found in the fall — don't you want to experience that?

For more information on fishing in Michigan, visit Michigan.gov/Fishing.

Fowlerville District Library Celebrates 100 Years of Winnie-the-Pooh with Hundred Acre Wood Festival

By Isabella Rowan
Fowlerville District Library Executive Director

A little imagination, a little honey, and a whole lot of friendship brought the Hundred Acre Wood to life at the Fowlerville District Library on Oct. 13th as the community gathered to celebrate the 100th anniversary of A. A. Milne's beloved children's classic, Winnie-the-Pooh.

First published on October 14, 1926, Winnie-the-Pooh introduced generations of readers to a lovable bear with a fondness for honey and his unforgettable friends, including Piglet, Tigger, Eeyore, Rabbit, Kanga and Roo. A century later, their adventures continue to delight readers of all ages.

The Library's Hundred Acre Wood Festival celebrated the enduring legacy with a special community gathering inspired by the stories, characters, and timeless lessons of Milne's imaginative world.

A centerpiece of the celebration was The Great Pooh Read Aloud, a community readathon featuring 16 local residents who took turns reading the original Winnie-the-Pooh from beginning to end. Rather than simply reading excerpts, participants brought the entire book to life, passing the story from one reader to the next until the final chapter was complete. The event offered a fitting tribute to the way beloved stories are shared across generations, with each new reader carrying the adventure forward.

There's something especially meaningful about bringing people together to share a story that has been loved for a hundred years. Each reader picked up where another left off, much as generations of families have passed these stories along. It's a wonderful reminder of the connections that books, and libraries, create."

The celebration also embraced the whimsy of the Hundred Acre Wood with a Pooh's Picnic of refreshments that included Tigger Tails, Rabbit's Garden, Pooh Punch, and naturally, homemade biscuits from Torch 180 served with honey.

The children's area hosted Pooh-themed crafts and games including Pin the Tail on Eeyore. More than 125 local littles made honey pots, key chains, and character ear headbands. Visitors also had the opportunity to shake their way to tubs of homemade honey butter.

While the festivities celebrated a milestone in children's literature, they also highlighted something central to the Library's mission: bringing people together through stories, shared experiences, and a sense of community.

Pooh's world may be filled with silly adventures and a bear who is forever searching for honey, but at the heart of these stories are friendship, kindness, curiosity, and helping one another. Those are lessons that never grow old.

The Library extends its heartfelt appreciation to the 16 community readers who lent their voices to the readathon, the staff and volunteers who helped make the celebration possible, and to the more than 350 people who joined in the festivities.

As Winnie-the-Pooh begins his second century, the Fowlerville community has helped ensure that the adventures of a certain bear with very little brain, and a very big heart, will continue to be shared and cherished.

Maisy Delso, a Fowlerville High School senior and member of the Fowlerville Community Theater, dressed up as 'Winnie the Pooh'.

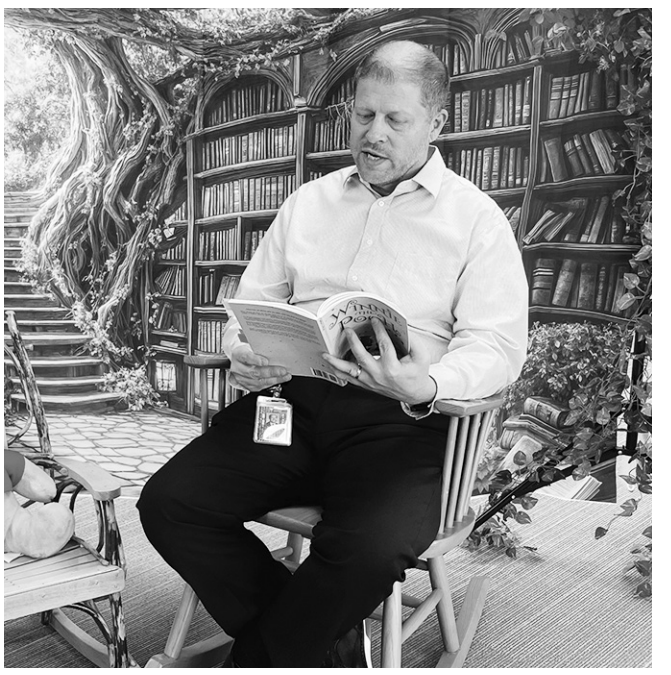

Theo Carter, age 8, from Fowlerville, listened as Paul Harmon, FBA president and owner of Harmon Real Estate, prepared to take his turn reading 'Winnie-the-Pooh'. Theo's parents are Sabrina and James Reyes.

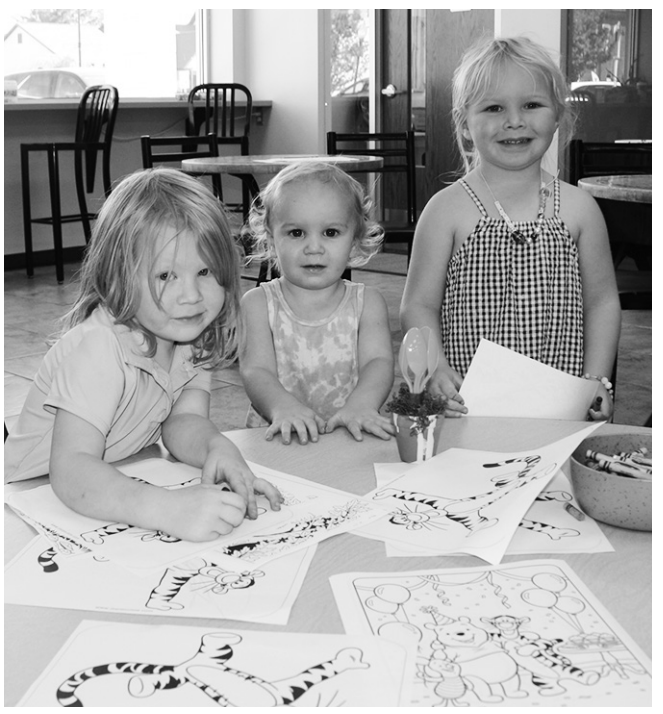

Brie Ebert of the Fowlerville Police Department join the fun by reading part of the original 'Winnie-the-Pooh' book published 100 years ago.

Julie Daily, Fowlerville Fire Marshal and Iosco Township Clerk, read part of the book during the afternoon.

Matt Stuard, superintendent of Fowlerville Community Schools, got to visit the Hundred Acre Wood.

Along with holding the Readathon, the library offered youngsters a chance to color the different 'Winnie the Pooh' characters. Doing that were, from left, Savannah Daavettila, age 5; Ziggy Helminen, age 2; and Zoe Helminen, age 4. Their respective parents are Ryan & Brooke Daavettila and Nels & Chloe Helminen.

Fowlerville Police Chief John Tyler was among the participants at the Fowlerville District Library 'Readathon'.

Susan Charron, Fowlerville Board of Education member and Fowlerville Rotary President, was one of the 16 readers who took part in the event held last Tuesday.

Flu Shots for Seniors: What's New This Fall

Dear Savvy Senior,

I always get my annual flu shot, but I never know whether I'm getting the right one. Can you explain which flu vaccine is best for seniors this fall and whether there are any other recommended vaccines I should get?

--Trying to Stay Healthy

Dear Trying,

If you're 65 or older, getting your annual flu shot is one of the most important things you can do to protect yourself during flu season. But with new vaccines and changing recommendations, many older adults aren't sure which shots they need.

The good news is that this fall's advice for seniors is simple: Get an enhanced flu vaccine, and use the opportunity to make sure you are up to date on other important vaccines, including RSV, pneumonia, shingles and, depending on your health situation, COVID-19.

Best flu shot for seniors

Influenza can be especially dangerous for older adults. As we age, our immune systems don't respond as well to infection, which is why people 65 and older account for most flu-related hospitalizations and deaths.

The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) recommends that adults 65 and older receive one of three enhanced flu vaccines instead of a standard-dose shot: Fluzone High-Dose, Fluad or Flublok.

Each of these vaccines is designed differently, but all produce a stronger immune response in older adults. Studies have not shown that one works better than the others, so there's no need to wait for a specific brand. The important thing is to get one of these enhanced vaccines when it's available.

Also new for the 2026-27 flu season is Moderna's mFLUSIVA, the first mRNA flu vaccine authorized in the United States. It is fully approved for adults ages 50 to 64 and has received accelerated approval for those 65 and older, pending additional study results. While mRNA technology could eventually allow flu vaccines to be updated more quickly to match circulating strains, adults 65 and older should continue to follow CDC recommendations and choose one of the three enhanced flu vaccines whenever possible.

The best time to get your flu shot is September or October, but it's not too late if you miss that window. Even a flu shot in November or later can still provide valuable protection.

Medicare Part B covers one flu shot each flu season at no cost when it's given by a Medicare-participating doctor, clinic or pharmacy.

Other vaccines

While you're getting your flu shot, it's also a good time to review your other vaccinations with your healthcare provider or pharmacist.

The CDC recommends a one-time RSV vaccine for everyone age 75 and older, as well as adults ages 50 through 74 who are at increased risk for severe RSV illness. Medicare Part D covers RSV vaccines.

Adults age 50 and older who have not received a pneumococcal vaccine should also consider getting protected against serious forms of pneumonia. The preferred options are Prevnar 20 (PCV20) or Capvaxive (PCV21). Most people need only one dose, and Medicare Part B covers these vaccines.

If you have not received the Shingrix shingles vaccine, it is another important vaccine to consider. The two-dose vaccine is more than 90 percent effective at preventing shingles and the painful nerve problems that can follow. Medicare Part D covers both doses.

COVID-19 recommendations have become more individualized in recent years, but older adults remain at higher risk for serious illness. Talk with your healthcare provider about whether an updated COVID vaccine is appropriate for you. Medicare Part B covers COVID vaccines.

Vaccine timing

Flu, RSV, COVID-19 and other recommended vaccines can generally be given during the same visit. But if you're concerned about temporary side effects such as fatigue, muscle aches or a sore arm, ask your healthcare provider or pharmacist about spacing them out.
